

Tate & Tryon Announces Two New Audit Partners

Tate & Tryon is pleased to announce the promotion of two new partners: Jasper Sciuto and Susan Colladay have been promoted to partner within Tate & Tryon's Audit Services practice.

Mr. Sciuto previously served as a Senior Audit Manager and has over 12 years of public accounting experience with Tate & Tryon. Prior to joining the Firm, he worked at Department of Defense and the Office of the Inspector General, where he performed compliance and performance audits of DOD departments and agencies, as well as external contractors.

Mr. Sciuto has managed and performed numerous audits and consulting engagements for a wide variety of nonprofit organizations including trade and membership associations, charitable organizations, related for-profit subsidiaries, political action committees and pension plans. He has extensive experience with auditing procedures relating to compliance with federal grant awards conducted in accordance with the provisions of OMB

A-133 (Audits of States, Local Governments and Non-Profit Organizations).

Jay has participated and led a number of seminars, including presentations at the Council of Better Business Bureaus, Association Management Group, and the Finance & Administration Roundtable. Mr. Sciuto has previously served on the Board of Directors for the Vienna, Virginia Toastmasters Club and currently serves as Audit Committee Chairman for the Louise Archer Elementary School Parent Teacher Association.

Mr. Sciuto is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, the Greater Washington Society of Certified Public Accountants, and the Finance & Administration Roundtable.

Ms. Colladay previously served as a Senior Audit Manager and has 11 years of public accounting experience, which she gained while working for Tate & Tryon. Prior to joining the Firm, Susan worked for 4 years in the accounting department of the American Society of Travel Agents (ASTA), a multi-entity trade association.

Ms. Colladay provides auditing and consulting services to a wide variety of nonprofit clients including associations, charitable organizations, related for-profit subsidiaries, and pension plans. Susan has extensive experience auditing federal award programs in accordance with OMB Circular A-133. Susan has also performed internal control audits in accordance with the framework for internal controls established by the Committee on Sponsoring Organizations (COSO).

Susan has authored articles for Dollars and Cents, an ASAE publication, as well as the Firm's newsletter. Susan has also led a seminar for members of the Council of Better Business Bureaus on the Financial Statement Basics for nonprofit organizations.

Ms. Colladay is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Greater Washington Society of Certified Public Accountants.
